

The Role of Buddhism in Creating Social Welfare: Learning from the Model of Bhutan

An International Symposium Organized by the Bhutanese Buddhism Research Project (BBRP)

January 10, 2012 (Tuesday) 15:00 - 18:30

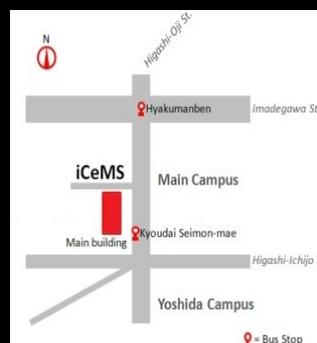

Venue: Seminar Room, Main Building 2F, Institute for Integrated Cell-Material Sciences (iCeMS), Kyoto University

Speakers

- Seiji KUMAGAI (Assistant Professor, Kyoto University)
"Concept of Bhutanese Buddhist Research Project"
- Sir Karma URA (President, Center for Bhutan Studies)
"Buddhism, Bhutan, and GNH"
- Takayoshi KUSAGO (Professor, Kansai University)
"Possibility of the Application of GNH in Japan"
- Ryuhō Ikeguchi (President, Free Monks Association)
"Change of the Ethos in the Japanese Buddhist Community in Recent Years"
- Yoshiro IMAEDA (Professor, Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique)
"Bhutanese Buddhism and Japanese Buddhism"

MAP

This symposium is organized by BBRP in collaboration with the Hakubi Project and Kokoro Research Center, Kyoto University, and the Center for Bhutan Studies.

TEL: +81-75-753-5315

E-mail: kumagai.seiji.3m@kyoto-u.ac.jp

<http://www.hakubi.kyoto-u.ac.jp/eng/index.html>